

PREFACE TO THE ENGLISH EDITION

My justification for placing another translation in our libraries is that no such book as this exists in the English language and that I could not for some considerable time see my way to collect so many observations on the cryptogamic parasites of higher plants or to find so many suitable subjects for the pictorial illustration of their habits and structure as Dr von Tubenb has given us. The work was undertaken all the more willingly because while working under the guidance of the author I had seen the book take shape in his hands and even added some items to its pages.

The aims of the book are sufficiently set forth in the author's preface and in the preparation of an English edition these have been kept in view. The first or general part and the more important descriptions in the second part are practically translations but a certain amount of modification was found necessary in adapting the work to the requirements of English readers. With this object many additions were made both by the author and myself. Those which I have inserted are in most cases indicated by the use of (Edit) this has however been entirely omitted in the group Fungi imperfecti and nearly so in the Uredinere on account of the number of changes found necessary. I also thought it advisable to indicate whether the different species of fungi had been recorded for Britain and North America this has been done generally by the use of brackets—(Britain and US America). The records for Britain are taken from the works of Plowright, Massée and others those of three groups—the Uredineae, Basidiomycetes and Fungi imperfecti were however revised by Professor J. W. H. Trill of Aberdeen a well known authority. For America the records of economic interest are selected chiefly from Farlow and Seymour's Host Index which contains the complete list

I here take the opportunity of expressing my thanks to Professor I. I. Bailey Balfour for valuable aid and advice to Professor J. W. H. Truitt for kindly revising important parts of the proofs to my brother Robert Smith for assistance in proof-reading and to other friends who have aided me

The difficulties of translation are well known in the present case they have been increased by the technical nature of the subject and by the modification which the original has undergone. Faults there must be for those I ask the indulgence of the reader

§ 1 DEFINITION OF THE PARASITISM OF FUNGI

Parasitic Fungi are those which stimulated by the cell contents of another living plant penetrate wholly or partially into its tissues and draw their nutriment from that source

Saprophytic Fungi are those which make no attempt to penetrate the tissues of living plants but derive their nutriment from a dead substratum

Intermediate between these two extremes come those fungi which in consequence of some stimulus attempt to effect an entrance into the tissues of living plants by the secretion of some fluid or ferment but only attain their object after first killing the part they attack (eg Sclerotinia sclerotiorum). A special position must also be ascribed to certain forms which inhibit the wood of tree but have not the power to penetrate through the outer tissues they depend on first gaining entrance through wounds into dead parts of the bark or wood and after living there for a time as saprophytes extend into the living elements and cause their death

Many parasites may be artificially cultivated so as to pass some part of their life history on dead pabulum and even in natural conditions many of them regularly live for a season in a saprophytic manner. On this account it appears to me more correct in distinguishing between parasites and saprophytes to lay less weight on the adaptation to nutrition and more on their response to the stimuli exerted by living plant cells. The nature of this stimulus which affects parasitic hyphae has not as yet been investigated. It appears probable however especially from the investigations of Iffert and Miyoshi¹ that the influence is primarily a chemical one and that the nutritive value of the stimulating substance is not a measure of the ensuing effect. Busgen states that the formation of adhesive discs by germinating spores is induced by a stimulus due to contact whereas the production and penetration of the first haustorium is independent of contact and is probably due to some chemical stimulus (see p 9). Miyoshi's investigations have also proved that saprophytic fungi are capable of penetrating into living plant organs even of boring through cell walls if the part be impregnated with a stimulating solution. They behave here completely as parasites. For example hyphae of Penicillium glaucum penetrate into living cells of a leaf injected with a two per cent solution of cane sugar while without previous injection of the leaf they have never been observed to do so. Penicillium is also known in certain circumstances to become parasitic.

Many species of fungi are capable of passing the whole or a part of their life as parasites on living plants. Conspicuous in this respect are the Uredinere and Ustiliginere many Ascomycetes including all Erysaceae and Frisipheae and amongst the lower fungi most of the Chytridiaceae and all the Peronosporaceae. Nor does this exhaust the list for amongst the remaining fungi we may find isolated families genera and even species occurring as parasites while forms closely related to them are saprophytic.

To classify the parasites saprophytes and intermediate forms we shall adopt that arrangement proposed by Van Tieghem and De Bary.

§ 2 CLASSIFICATION OF PARASITES AND SAPROPHYTES

1 True saprophytes are such as regularly pass through their whole life history in a saprophytic manner. They may derive their nourishment from different kinds of pabulum or be limited to some definite substratum. The true saprophytes do not come within the scope of this book.¹

2 Hemi saprophytes (the facultative parasites of De Bary) are wont to pass through their whole development as saprophytes but on occasion are capable of existing wholly or partially as parasites. Amongst them are included particularly such species as may be designated occasional parasites which commonly occur as saprophytes and only under certain conditions become parasitic.

3 True parasites (the obligate parasites of De Bary) These undergo no part of their development as saprophytes but live in every stage of existence as parasites.

4 Hemi parasites (the facultative saprophytes of De Bary) are capable if need be of becoming saprophytes for a season.

¹Johor proposes the term Holo saprophytes for those non chlorophyllous Phanerogams which live exclusively saprophytic on organic debris in contrast to those possessing chlorophyll which he names Hemi saprophytes.

but as a rule they live throughout their whole development as parasites

Within each of these four divisions one may introduce a number of subdivisions

Hemi-saprophytes

The majority of saprophytes are never parasitic, yet there are a number which become so occasionally. Thus some species of Mucor and Penicillium can penetrate into thin-skinned fruits, and thus they do the more easily, the further the fruits are from the condition of full vital energy, to use De Bary's expression¹. Related to these are other fungi which, although incapable of effecting entrance into plants in active life, may yet do so as the plant, though still living begins to wither. In such cases the parasitism is somewhat difficult to prove. In particular, the so called 'Fungi imperfecti' contain forms of this kind.

Amongst the hemi-saprophytes we may include the species of Botrytis, which are able to penetrate into unfolding parts of plants, but not into the older parts. We may specially mention Botrytis Douglasii as a form more generally known as a saprophyte, but which becomes parasitic on immature organs, and which penetrates young needles of various conifers to kill them, whereas it is unable to attack older needles. In this case the thickness of the membranes would seem to act as a protection, just as the vital energy of the plant does in the preceding cases. In Sclerotinia sclerotiorum, Scl. ciborioides, and Scl. Fuehliana, a saprophytic existence must, as in the example just mentioned, precede the parasitic condition, in fact De Bary holds that these forms can only become parasites after their mycelium has been saprophytically strengthened, the parasitic condition is not necessary to them for they can go through their whole development on a dead substratum. Pythium De Baryanum is also to be regarded as a hemi-saprophyte which attacks and kills seedlings of many plants as a parasite, but otherwise vegetates on dead plant remains. Cladosporium herbarum, one of the commonest of saprophytes, behaves similarly, but it is of less frequent occurrence than Pythium, and in fact its parasitism has only been suspected quite recently.

¹ This has been confirmed by Davaine (Compt. rend. LXIII, 1866, pp. 277 and 344) and I refer to (Sitzungsber. d. naturforsch. Fr. zu Berlin, 1875)

As further examples of fungi capable as parasites of killing living cells but which pass through more or less of their life as saprophytes may be taken species whose mycelium inhabits the wood of trees and shrubs. Amongst these are numerous Polyporaceae which find admission only by wounds in the wood. At first these destroy and derive nourishment from the substance of dead parts of the wood but later they begin to attack the parenchyma of the living wood and extending outwards kill as they go cambium bast and rind till they reach the exterior and there develop sporophores. As examples we may take those species investigated by R. Hartig of Munich *eg Polyporus fomentarius P. annosus P. Hartigii P. sulphureus Stereum hirsutum Trametes pini*¹

The heart wood is a part of the tree generally avoided by insects which would in very short time destroy the sap wood with its rich starch content eg Annobiae in oak. Again the heart wood resists the influence of certain saprophytic fungi much longer than the sap wood hence it is preferred as the timber used for railway sleepers. Although in these cases we might describe the heart wood as possessing antiseptic properties yet this would scarcely be accurate since it is just this very heart wood which is always first attacked by the wound parasites of trees and gives them a hold on the tree as parasites. See also Chap V

Since these dangerous tree fungi can live wholly as saprophytes in the heart wood and in the sap wood partly as such partly as parasites they are also able to vegetate further and to reproduce themselves on felled stems especially when the necessary moisture is provided. Thus for example Agaricus aliposus a wound parasite of the silver fir produces its yellow sporophores on felled stems and split wood during the whole summer in moist parts of the forest while in a cellar or other moist chamber the development of sporophores may continue over a year. In fact I have found that a billet of beech wood after being placed under a glass and allowed to be completely dry on again being soaked from time to time continued to produce a crop of toadstools annually for five years.

Some wound parasites occur occasionally as typical saprophytes on dead wood. Thus Polyporus annosus perhaps better known as Trametes radiciperda, is an undoubted parasite of pines, spruces, and other trees, yet on timber in mines¹ it grows luxuriantly, and reproduces abundantly from sporophores, which, however, differ somewhat from the typical form. Again, the rhizomorph strands of Agaricus melleus grow under dead bark, in the earth, in mines, and in wooden water-pipes, while other forms of its mycelium are completely parasitic, thus the apices of the rhizomorphs penetrate the bark of young conifers, and in the form of a mycelium, live parasitic on rind, bast, and cambium.

Polyporus sapotarius, a true parasite on living Scots pine, is also an enemy of timber in newly-built structures, or in subterranean spaces and cellars so long as it can obtain the necessary moisture. Polyporus sulphureus produces sporophores on the bark of living trees, as well as on the dead stools of felled trees. Many other related forms would probably be able to live on dead timber if they were not dependent on a certain degree of moisture and could submit to drying up as easily as, for example Polyporus abietinus, a true saprophyte, and one of the most common enemies of old wooden bridges.

Fungi from other groups are also known to effect an entrance into the wood of trees through wounds only, yet when once in, they spread rapidly, and at length bring about the death of their host. The spores of Cucurbitaria laburni were demonstrated by me to germinate on the laburnum on wounds produced by hail and otherwise and to send into the wood so exposed a mycelium, which spread through the vessels and into the rind, killing all the tissues on its way. Similarly Nectria cinnabarina after it has killed its host, lives thereon as a saprophyte, and develops patches of conidia and perithecia on the dead bark. Peziza Willkommii although really a strict parasite on the living rind yet continues to grow and to reproduce itself on the dead branches.

Hemi parasites.

If the examples already given, i.e. Mucor, Penicillium, Botrytis, Pythium, are typical of hemi saprophytes, then there may arise a doubt whether the remainder, the wood destroying Polyporeae Nectria, Cucurbitaria, and Agaricus melleus, should not be regarded as hemi parasites. They must, however, be included amongst the hemi saprophytes, because doubtless they are capable of going through their whole development as saprophytes. The hemi parasites include, amongst others, the Ustilaginere, all of which live for a time as parasites, and cannot, even by artificial cultivation, be made to complete their life history as saprophytes. While, however, many of the Ustilaginere are adapted to a completely parasitic life, others can, in the form of sprouting conidia, live and multiply saprophytically. The conidia of Exobasidium and Eroascus continue to bud off conidia for a considerable time in nutritive solutions yet in nature, the spores probably produce infecting hyphae at once, and the fungus is but little suited to sustain a saprophytic mode of life. Phytophthora infestans is more easily reared as a saprophyte, and occurs in nature as such, hence it approaches somewhat towards the hemi saprophytes.

True Parasites

The Uredineae may be taken as the most typical of the true parasites, they constantly pass through their whole life history on living plants, and cannot be cultivated on a dead substratum. So also the Erysipheae, although frequently their spores only reach maturity on a dead substratum, as do also those of Rhizisma and Polystigma. Ergot of grain and the Sclerotinia inhabiting berries, are also truly parasitic, even though their apothecia or perithecia are produced from hibernating sclerotia and though their conidia can be saprophytically cultivated on dead pabulum.

The Peronosporere and Protomyces are also true parasites. In many other forms the development of germ tubes, or the sprouting of conidia, may be obtained in artificial nutritive solutions by exclusion of rival fungi and bacteria, yet it is doubtful whether this takes place in nature.

§ 3 MODE OF LIFE OF THE PARASITIC FUNGI

The parasitic fungi may be divided according to the place of their occurrence and their mode of attack on the host, into two categories which may be designated epiphytic and endophytic.

parasites ¹ The former have their vegetative mycelium spread over the surface of the host-plant, the latter penetrate into the plant and there develop their mycelium Both receive nourishment from the cells of the host plants, generally by means of special absorptive organs inserted into the cells of the host, the so called haustoria

We may distinguish the following groups of parasites according to the degree of their penetration into the organs of the host-plant they attack

1 Epiphytes (a) with haustoria which only sink into the outer membranes of the host,

(b) with haustoria penetrating into the cavity of the host-cells

2 Endophytes (a) with a mycelium which grows in the walls of the host-cell, and is generally nourished without the aid of haustoria,

(b) with a mycelium which grows in the intercellular spaces only, and is nourished with or without haustoria,

(c) with a mycelium which penetrates into the host cells and becomes an intracellular mycelium,

(d) lower fungi which live completely in a host-cell

1 Acquisition of nutriment by the epiphytic parasitic fungi The simplest mode of acquiring nutriment is found in yeasts (Saccharomyces apiculatus etc) which frequent the outside of living fruits and live on the drops of sugary solution which diffuse therefrom ²

¹ Epiphytic parasites always produce their reproductive organs outside their host plant In the case of endophytic parasites, the reproductive organs of some are produced inside the host tissue e.g. the zygospores and oospores of Chytridiaceae and Peronosporae, the chlamydospores of the Ustilaginaceae, others form their sporocarps wholly or partially embedded the spores and conidia only being discharged externally, while a large number form sporocarps on the surface after the epidermis has been torn Conidia are generally abjected from the free surface of the host plant

The terms epiphytic and endophytic parasites have been chosen with regard to the development of the parasitic food absorbing mycelium Some authors regard epiphytism somewhat differently, and include amongst endophytes those forms which live on the surface of the host and penetrate only by haustoria If this be accepted epiphytism is very exceptional amongst parasites of the higher plants Zopf ('Die Pilze') gives as examples of this condition only the following the Laboulbeniaceae inhabiting the chitinous skeleton of certain insects and Melanospora parantica on filaments of species of Isaria, these have no communication between the mycelium and their host Species of Chaetocladium parasitic on fungi and absorbing the cell wall of the host at the point of contact, could strictly speaking, no longer be classed as epiphytes

I can however hardly regard as parasites fungi like these which live on an accidental outflow from plants or plant cells even though they regularly frequent places where an outflow is to be expected. They exert no influence on the host plant and they are nourished by substances which can no longer be regarded as belonging to the host. I would rather include them amongst non parasitic epiphytes which without specially adapting themselves settle on any part of a living plant where sugary solutions suitable for their nutriment may occur. One might imagine however such epiphytes inducing a diffusion of nutritive substance from the cells of the host epidermis to the closely adherent fungal hyphae then we should have the simplest mode of parasitic acquisition of nutriment on the part of epiphytes. They would take up food material from the epidermal cells in much the same manner as many intercellular hyphae do from the adjoining walls of the host cell¹.

Epiphytic parasites frequenting the surface of plant organs generally endeavour to increase their supply of nutriment from the host cells by formation of haustoria which pierce the cuticle or the whole cell wall. Bügen has shown experimentally that the adhesive discs often formed on the germination of a spore owe their origin to a contact stimulus, the formation and direction of the infecting hyphae on the other hand though depending on this are much more determined by a stimulus originating from the host cell itself. In this we have a confirmation of the accuracy of our definition of parasite and saprophyte.

The appressoria adhesion organs or adhesive discs just mentioned are characteristic of many parasites. They are formed chiefly on epiphytic mycelia but also accompany the earlier life of other fungi. In the case of epiphytes pores are formed on definite places of such an adhesive disc and from these haustoria are developed or a hypha is given off and enters the host plant to form a mycelium. The appressoria of the Erysiphaceae are very characteristic in many they are broad lobed discs (Fig 1), in

FIG 1.—sp Spore of Erysiphe germinating on the epidermis of a host plant; an adhesion-disc and haustorium have been formed. (After De Bary)

PROBATES, LETTERS OF ADMINISTRATION AND CERTIFICATES OF ADMINISTRATION

19A Where any person on applying for the probate of a will or letters of administration has estimated the property of the deceased to be of greater value than the same has afterwards proved to be, and has consequently paid too high a court fee thereon, if, within six months after the true value of the property has been ascertained such person produces the probate or letters to the Chief Controlling Revenue authority '[for the local area] in which the probate or letters has or have been granted

Rel of where too high a court fee has been paid and delivers to such Authority a particular inventory and valuation of the property of the deceased verified by affidavit or affirmation, and if such Authority is satisfied that a greater fee was paid on the probate or letters than the law required, the said Authority may—

- (a) cancel the stamp on the probate or letters if such stamp has not been already cancelled

- (b) substitute another stamp for denoting the court-fee which should have been paid thereon, and
- (c) make an allowance for the difference between them as in the case of spoiled stamps, or repay the same in money, at his discretion

Relief where debts due from a deceased person have been paid out of his estate

19B. Whenever it is proved to the satisfaction of such Authority that an executor or administrator has paid debts due from the deceased to such an amount as, being deducted out of the amount or value of the estate, reduces the same to a sum which, if it had been the whole gross amount or value of the estate, would have occasioned a less court-fee to be paid on the probate or letters of administration granted in respect of such estate than has been actually paid thereon under this Act, such Authority may return the difference, provided the same be claimed within three years after the date of such probate or letters

But when, by reason of any legal proceeding, the debts due from the deceased have not been ascertained and paid, or his effects have not been recovered and made available, and in consequence thereof the executor or administrator is prevented from claiming the return of such difference within the said term of three years, the said Authority may allow such further time for making the claim as may appear to be reasonable under the circumstances

Relief in case of several grants.

19C Whenever ¹ a grant of probate or letters of administration has been or is made in respect of the whole of the property belonging to an estate, and the full fee chargeable under this Act has been or is paid thereon, no fee shall be chargeable under the same Act when a like grant is made in respect of the whole or any part of the same property belonging to the same estate

Whenever such a grant has been or is made in respect of any property forming part of an estate, the amount of fees then actually paid under this Act shall be deducted when a like grant is made in respect of property belonging to the same estate, identical with or including the property to which the former grant relates

Probates declared valid as to trust property though not recovered by court fee

19D. The probate of the will or the letters of administration of the effects of any person deceased heretofore or hereafter granted shall be deemed valid and available by his executors or administrators for recovering, transferring or assigning any moveable or immoveable property whereof or whereto the deceased was possessed or entitled, either wholly or partially as a trustee, notwithstanding the amount or value of such property is not included in the amount or value of the estate in respect of which a court-fee was paid on such probate or letters of administration

¹19E Where any person on applying for probate or letters of administration has estimated the estate of the deceased to be of less value than the same has afterwards proved to be and has in consequence paid too low a court-fee thereon, the Chief Controlling Revenue authority²[for the local area] in which the probate or letters has or have been granted may, on the value of the estate of the deceased being verified by affidavit or affirmation, cause the probate or letters of administration to be duly stamped on payment of the full court-fee which ought to have been originally paid thereon in respect of such value and of the further penalty if the probate or letters is or are produced within one year from the date of grant, of five times, or, if it or they is or are produced after one year from such date, of twenty times, such proper court fee, without any deduction of the court fee originally paid on such probate or letters

Provision for case where too low a court-fee has been paid on probates etc

Provided that, if the application be made within six months after the ascertainment of the true value of the estate and the discovery that too low a court fee was at first paid on the probate or letters, and if the said Authority is satisfied that such fee was paid in consequence of a mistake or of its not being known at the time that some particular part of the estate belonged to the deceased, and without any intention of fraud or to delay the payment of the proper court fee, the said Authority may remit the said penalty, and cause the probate or letters to be duly stamped on payment only of the sum wanting to make up the fee which should have been at first paid thereon

19F In case of letters of administration on which too low a court-fee has been paid at first, the said Authority shall not cause the same to be duly stamped in manner aforesaid until the administrator has given such security to the Court by which the letters of administration have been granted as ought by law to have been given on the granting thereof in case the full value of the estate of the deceased had been then ascertained

Administrator to give proper security before letters stamped under section 19E.

- (1) if they are inconsistent with any fact in issue or relevant fact,
- (2) if by themselves or in connection with other facts they make the existence or non-existence of any fact in issue or relevant fact highly probable or improbable

Illustrations

(a) The question is whether A committed a crime at Calcutta on a certain day The fact that on that day, A was at Lahore is relevant

(Part I—Relevancy of Facts Chapter II—Of the Relevancy of Facts)

The fact that near the time when the crime was committed A was at a distance from the place where it was committed, which would render it highly improbable, though not impossible, that he committed it, is relevant

(b) The question is, whether A committed a crime

The circumstances are such that the crime must have been committed either by A, B, C or D. Every fact which shows that the crime could have been committed by no one else and that it was not committed by either B, C or D, is relevant

(e) A is accused of defaming B by publishing an imputation intended to harm the reputation of B.

(1) An admission may be proved by or on behalf of the person making it when it is of such a nature that if the person making it were dead it would be relevant as between third persons under section 32

(2) An admission may be proved by or on behalf of the person making it when it consists of a statement of the existence of any state of

(d) A is accused of receiving stolen goods knowing them to be stolen

He offers to prove that he refused to sell them below their value

A may prove these statements though they are admissions because they are explanatory of conduct influenced by facts in issue

(e) A is accused of fraudulently having in his possession counterfeit coin which he knew to be counterfeit

He offers to prove that he asked a skilful person to examine the coin as he doubted whether it was counterfeit or not and that that person did examine it and told him it was genuine

A may prove these facts for the reasons stated in the last preceding illustration

22 Oral admissions as to the contents of a document are not relevant unless and until the party proposing to prove them shows that he is entitled to give secondary evidence of the contents of such document under the rules hereinafter contained, or unless the genuineness of a document produced is in question

When oral admissions as to contents of document are relevant

23 In civil cases no admission is relevant, if it is made either upon an express condition that evidence of it is not to be given, or under circumstances from which the Court can infer that the parties agreed together that evidence of it should not be given

Admissions in civil cases when relevant

Confession to police officer not to be proved
Confession by accused while in custody of police not to be proved against him

25 No confession made to a police officer¹ shall be proved as against a person accused of any offence

26 No confession made by any person whilst he is in the custody of a police officer, unless it be made in the immediate presence of a Magistrate,² shall be proved as against such person

³Explanation.—In this section "Magistrate" does not include the head of a village discharging magisterial functions in the Presidency of Fort St George or in Burma or elsewhere, unless such headman is a Magistrate exercising the powers of a Magistrate under the Code of Criminal Procedure, 1882⁴

How much of information received from accused may be proved

27. Provided that, when any fact is deposed to as discovered in consequence of information received from a person accused of any offence, in the custody of a police officer, so much of such information, whether it amounts to a confession or not, as relates distinctly to the fact thereby discovered, may be proved

28 If such a confession as is referred to in section 24 is made after the impression caused by any such inducement, threat or promise has, in the opinion of the Court, been fully removed, it is relevant

Confession made after removal of impression caused by inducement, threat or promise relevant
Confession otherwise relevant not to become irrelevant because of promise of secrecy etc

29. If such a confession is otherwise relevant, it does not become irrelevant merely because it was made under a promise of secrecy, or in consequence of a deception practised on the accused person for the purpose of obtaining it, or when he was drunk, or because it was made in answer to questions which he need not have answered, whatever may have been the form of those questions, or because he was not warned that he was not bound to make such confession, and that evidence of it might be given against him

30. When more persons than one are being tried jointly for the same offence, and a confession made by one of such persons affecting himself and some other of such persons is proved, the Court may take into consideration such confession as against such other person as well as against the person who makes such confession

Consideration of proved confession affecting person making it and others jointly under trial for same offence

STATEMENTS BY PERSONS WHO CANNOT BE CALLED AS WITNESSES

32. Statements written or verbal, of relevant facts made by a person who is dead, or who cannot be found, or who has become incapable of giving evidence or whose attendance cannot be procured without an amount of delay or expense which under the circumstances of the case appears to the Court unreasonable, are themselves relevant facts in the following cases —

Cases in which statement of relevant fact by person who is dead or cannot be found etc., is relevant. When it relates to cause of death.

(1) When the statement is made by a person as to the cause of his death, or as to any of the circumstances of the transaction which resulted in his death, in cases in which the cause of that person's death comes into question

Such statements are relevant whether the person who made them was or was not, at the time when they were made, under expectation of death, and whatever may be the nature of the proceeding in which the cause of his death comes into question

(2) When the statement was made by such person in the ordinary course of business and in particular when it consists of any entry or memorandum made by him in books kept in the ordinary course of business, or in the discharge of professional duty or of an acknowledgment written or signed by him of the receipt of money goods securities or that the proceeding was between the same parties or their representatives in interest, that the adverse party in the first proceeding had the right and opportunity to cross examine,

STATEMENTS MADE UNDER SPECIAL CIRCUMSTANCES

Entries in books of account when relevant.

34 Entries in books of account, regularly kept in the course of business, are relevant whenever they refer to a matter into which the Court has to inquire, but such statements shall not alone be sufficient evidence to charge any person with liability

Illustration

A sues B for Rs 1000 and shows entries in his account books showing B to be indebted to him to this amount. The entries are relevant but are not sufficient without other evidence to prove the debt

Relevancy of entry in public record made in performance of duty

35 An entry in any public or other official book, register or record, stating a fact in issue or relevant fact, and made by a public servant in the discharge of his official duty, or by any other person in performance of a duty specially enjoined by the law of the country in which such book, register or record is kept is itself a relevant fact

Relevancy of statements in maps, charts and plans

36 Statements of facts in issue or relevant facts made in published maps or charts generally offered for public sale, or in maps or plans made under the authority of Government, as to matters usually represented or stated in such maps, charts or plans are themselves relevant facts

Relevancy of statement as to fact of public nature contained in certain Acts or notifications.

37 When the Court has to form an opinion as to the existence of any fact of a public nature, any statement of it made in a recital contained in any Act of Parliament or in any Act of the Governor General of India in Council or of the Governors in Council of Madras or Bombay, or of the Lieutenant Governor in Council of Bengal, or in a notification of the Government appearing in the Gazette of India or in the Gazette of any Local Government, or in any printed paper purporting to be the London Gazette or the Government Gazette of any colony or possession of the Queen, is a relevant fact

² This section applies also to any Act of the Lieutenant Governor in Council of the North Western Provinces and Oudh, the Punjab or Burma

Relevancy of statements

38 When the Court has to form an opinion as to a law of any country, any statement of such law contained in a book purporting to be

¹ Cf. s. 196 of the Indian Companies Act 1862 (VI of 1862) General Acts Vol III, and Sch. printed or published under the authority of the Government of such country and to contain any such law, and any report of a ruling of the Courts of such country contained in a book purporting to be a report of such rulings, is relevant as to any law contained in law books

HOW MUCH OF A STATEMENT IS TO BE PROVED

39 When any statement of which evidence is given forms part of a longer statement, or of a conversation or part of an isolated document, or is contained in a document which forms part of a book, or of a connected series of letters or papers, evidence shall be given of so much and no more of the statement, conversation, document, book or series of letters or papers as the Court considers necessary in that particular case to the full understanding of the nature and effect of the statement, and of the circumstances under which it was made

What evidence to be given when statement forms part of a conversation document book or series of letters or papers

JUDGMENTS OF COURTS OF JUSTICE WHEN RELEVANT

40. The existence of any judgment, order or decree which by law prevents any Court from taking cognizance of a suit or holding a trial, is a relevant fact when the question is whether such Court ought to take cognizance of such suit or to hold such trial

Previous judgments relevant to bar a second suit or trial.

41 A final judgment, order or decree of a competent Court, in the exercise of probate matrimonial admiralty or insolvency jurisdiction, which confers upon or takes away from any person any legal character, or which declares any person to be entitled to any such character, or to be entitled to any specific thing not as against any specified person but absolutely, is relevant when the existence of any such legal character, or the title of any such person to any such thing is relevant

Relevancy of certain judgments in probate etc. jurisdiction

Such judgment, order or decree is conclusive proof—that any legal character which it confers accrued at the time when such judgment order or decree came into operation, that any legal character to which it declares any such person to be entitled, accrued to that person at the time when such judgment, ¹[order or decree] declares it to have accrued to that person, that any legal character which it takes away from any such person ceased at the time from which such judgment ¹[order or decree] declared that it had ceased or should cease, and that anything to which it declares any person to be so entitled was the property of that person at the time from which such judgment, ¹[order or decree] declares that it had been or should be his property

(Part I.—Relevancy of Facts. Chapter II—Of the Relevancy of Facts)

Relevancy and effect of judgments, orders or decrees, other than those mentioned in section 41

42. Judgments, orders or decrees other than those mentioned in section 41 are relevant if they relate to matters of a public nature relevant to the enquiry; but such judgments, orders or decrees are not conclusive proof of that which they state.

Illustration

A sues B for trespass on his land. B alleges the existence of a public right of way over the land, which A denies.

The existence of a decree in favour of the defendant, in a suit by A against C for a trespass on the same land, in which C alleged the existence of the same right of way, is relevant, but it is not conclusive proof that the right of way exists.

Judgments, etc., other than those mentioned in section 40 to 42, when relevant

43. Judgments, orders or decrees, other than those mentioned in sections 40, 41 and 42, are irrelevant, unless the existence of such judgment, order or decree is a fact in issue, or is relevant under some other provision of this Act.

Illustrations

(a) A and B separately sue C for a libel which reflects upon each of them. C in each case says that the matter alleged to be libellous is true, and the circumstances are such that it is probably true in each case, or in neither.

A obtains a decree against C for damages on the ground that C failed to make out his justification. The fact is irrelevant as between B and C.

(b) A prosecutes B for adultery with C, A's wife.

B denies that C is A's wife, but the Court convicts B of adultery.

Afterwards, C is prosecuted for bigamy in marrying B during A's lifetime. C says that she never was A's wife.

The judgment against B is irrelevant as against C.

(c) A prosecutes B for stealing a cow from him. B is convicted.

A afterwards sues C for the cow, which B had sold to him before his conviction. As between A and C, the judgment against B is irrelevant.

(d) A has obtained a decree for the possession of land against B. C, B's son, murders A in consequence.

The existence of the judgment is relevant, as showing motive for a crime.

fact in issue

Fraud or collusion in obtaining judgment, or incompetency of Court, may be proved

44. Any party to a suit or other proceeding may show that any judgment, order or decree which is relevant under section 40, 41 or 42, and which has been proved by the adverse party, was delivered by a Court not competent to deliver it, or was obtained by fraud or collusion.

OPINIONS OF THIRD PERSONS, WHEN RELEVANT.

Opinions of experts.

47 When the Court has to form an opinion as to the person by whom any document was written or signed the opinion of any person acquainted with the handwriting of the person by whom it is supposed to be written or signed that it was or was not written or signed by that person, is a relevant fact Opinion as to handwriting relevant.

Explanation—A person is said to be acquainted with the handwriting of another person when he has seen that person write, or when he has received documents purporting to be written by that person in answer to documents written by himself or under his authority and addressed to that person or when in the ordinary course of business, documents purporting to be written by that person have been habitually submitted to him

The opinions of B C and D on the question whether the letter is in the handwriting of A are relevant though neither B C nor D ever saw A write

Opinion as to existence of right or custom when relevant

48 When the Court has to form an opinion as to the existence of any general custom or right the opinions, as to the existence of such custom or right, of persons who would be likely to know of its existence if it existed, are relevant

Explanation—The expression "general custom or right" includes customs or rights common to any considerable class of persons

Illustration

The right of the villagers of a particular village to use the water of a particular well is a general right within the meaning of this section

49 When the Court has to form an opinion as to—the usages and tenets of any body of men or family, the constitution and government of any religious or charitable foundation or the meaning of words or terms used in particular districts or by particular classes of people, the opinions of persons having special means of knowledge thereon, are relevant facts

50 When the Court has to form an opinion as to the relationship of one person to another the opinion, expressed by conduct, as to the existence of such relationship of any person who, as a member of the family or otherwise, has special means of knowledge on the subject, is a relevant fact

Provided that such opinion shall not be sufficient to prove a marriage in proceedings under the Indian Divorce Act,¹ or in prosecutions under section 494, 495, 497 or 498 of the Indian Penal Code²

Illustrations

(a) The question is whether A and B were married

The fact that they were usually received and treated by their friends as husband and wife is relevant

(b) The question is whether A was the legitimate son of B The fact that A was always treated as such by members of the family is relevant Grounds of opinion when relevant.

CHARACTER WHEN RELEVANT

52 In civil cases the fact that the character of any person concerned is such as to render probable or improbable any conduct imputed to him is irrelevant, except in so far as such character appears from facts otherwise relevant

In civil cases character to prove conduct imputed irrelevant

53 In criminal proceedings the fact that the person accused is of a good character is relevant

In criminal cases previous good character relevant Previous bad character not relevant except in reply

54 In criminal proceedings the fact that the accused person has a bad character is irrelevant, unless evidence has been given that he has a good character, in which case it becomes relevant

Explanation 1—This section does not apply to cases in which the bad character of any person is itself a fact in issue

Explanation 2—A previous conviction is relevant as evidence of bad character

55 In civil cases the fact that the character of any person is such as to affect the amount of damages which he ought to receive, is relevant

Character as affecting damages.

Explanation—In sections 52 53 54 and 55 the word "character" includes both reputation and disposition but ²[except as provided in section 54] evidence may be given only of general reputation and general disposition and not of particular acts by which reputation or disposition were shown

OF DOCUMENTARY EVIDENCE

61 The contents of documents may be proved either by primary or by secondary evidence

62 Primary evidence means the document itself produced for the inspection of the Court

Explanation 1—Where a document is executed in several parts, each part is primary evidence of the document

Where a document is executed in counterpart, each counterpart being executed by one or some of the parties only, each counterpart is primary evidence as against the parties executing it

Explanation 3—Where a number of documents are all made by one uniform process, as in the case of printing, lithography or photography, each is primary evidence of the contents of the rest, but, where they are all copies of a common original, they are not primary evidence of the contents of the original

Illustration

A person is shown to have been in possession of a number of placards all printed at one time from one original. Any one of the placards is primary evidence of the contents of any other, but no one of them is primary evidence of the contents of the original

66. Secondary evidence of the contents of the documents referred to in section 65, clause (a), shall not be given unless the party proposing to give such secondary evidence has previously given to the party in whose possession or power the document is, ¹[or to his attorney or pleader,] such notice to produce it as is prescribed by law, and if no notice is prescribed by law, then such notice as the Court considers reasonable under the circumstances of the case

Provided that such notice shall not be required in order to render secondary evidence admissible in any of the following cases, or in any other case in which the Court thinks fit to dispense with it —

- (1) when the document to be proved is itself a notice,

70 The admission of a party to an attested document of its execution by himself shall be sufficient proof of its execution as against him, though it be a document required by law to be attested Admission of execution by party to attested document.

71 If the attesting witness denies or does not recollect the execution of the document, its execution may be proved by other evidence Proof when attesting witness denies the execution

72 An attested document not required by law to be attested may be proved as if it was unattested Proof of document not required by law to be attested

73 In order to ascertain whether a signature, writing or seal is that of the person by whom it purports to have been written or made, any signature, writing or seal admitted or proved to the satisfaction of the Court to have been written or made by that person may be compared with the one which is to be proved although that signature, writing or seal has not been produced or proved for any other purpose Comparison of signature writing or seal with others admitted or proved

142 Leading questions must not, if objected to by the adverse party, be asked in an examination in chief, or in a re examination, except with the permission of the Court

When they must not be asked.

The Court shall permit leading questions as to matters which are introductory or undisputed, or which have, in its opinion, been already sufficiently proved

143 Leading questions may be asked in cross examination

When they may be asked. Evidence as to matters in writing

144 Any witness may be asked, whilst under examination, whether any contract, grant or other disposition of property, as to which he is giving evidence was not contained in a document and if he says that it was, or if he is about to make any statement as to the contents of any document, which, in the opinion of the Court ought to be produced the adverse party may object to such evidence being given until such document is produced, or until facts have been proved which entitle the party who called the witness to give secondary evidence of it

Explanation—A witness may give oral evidence of statements made by other persons about the contents of documents if such statements are in themselves relevant facts

The question is whether A assaulted B
C deposes that he heard A say to D— B wrote a letter accusing me of theft and I will be revenged on him. This statement is relevant as showing A's motive for the assault and evidence may be given of it though no other evidence is given about the letter 145 A witness may be cross examined as to previous statements made by him in writing or reduced into writing and relevant to matters in question, without such writing being shown to him or being proved, but if it is intended to contradict him by the writing his attention must,

before the writing can be proved, he called to those parts of it which are to be used for the purpose of contradicting him

146. When a witness is cross examined, he may, in addition to the questions hereinbefore referred to, he asked any questions which tend—

- (1) to test his veracity,
- (2) to discover who he is and what is his position in life, or
- (3) to shake his credit, by injuring his character, although the answer to such questions might tend directly or indirectly to criminate him or might expose or tend directly or indirectly to expose him to a penalty or forfeiture

147. If any such question relates to a matter relevant to the suit or proceeding, the provisions of section 132 shall apply thereto

148. If any such question relates to a matter not relevant to the suit or proceeding, except in so far as it affects the credit of the witness by injuring his character, the Court shall decide whether or not the witness shall be compelled to answer it, and may, if it thinks fit, warn the witness that he is not obliged to answer it. In exercising its discretion, the Court shall have regard to the following considerations —

- (1) such questions are proper if they are of such a nature that the truth of the imputation conveyed by them would seriously affect the opinion of the Court as to the credibility of the witness on the matter to which he testifies
- (2) such questions are improper if the imputation which they convey relates to matters so remote in time, or of such a character, that the truth of the imputation would not affect, or affect in a slight degree, the opinion of the Court as to the credibility of the witness on the matter to which he testifies
- (3) such questions are improper if there is a great disproportion between the importance of the imputation made against the witness's character and the importance of his evidence
- (4) the Court may, if it sees fit, draw, from the witness's refusal to answer, the inference that the answer if given would be unfavourable

149. No such question as is referred to in section 148 ought to be asked, unless the person asking it has reasonable grounds for thinking that the imputation which it conveys is well founded

Procedure of Court in case of question being asked without reasonable grounds. Indecent and scandalous questions

151. The Court may forbid any questions or inquiries which it regards as indecent or scandalous, although such questions or inquiries may have some bearing on the questions before the Court, unless they relate to facts in issue, or to matters necessary to be known in order to determine whether or not the facts in issue existed

Question by party to his own witness

154 The Court may in its discretion, permit the person who calls a witness to put any questions to him which might be put in cross examination by the adverse party

Impeaching credit of witness

155 The credit of a witness may be impeached in the following ways by the adverse party or, with the consent of the Court, by the party who calls him —

- (1) by the evidence of persons who testify that they, from their knowledge of the witness believe him to be unworthy of credit,
- (2) by proof that the witness has been bribed, or has accepted¹ the offer of a bribe, or has received any other corrupt inducement to give his evidence
- (3) by proof of former statements inconsistent with any part of his evidence which is liable to be contradicted,
- (4) when a man is prosecuted for rape or an attempt to ravish, it may be shown that the prosecutrix was of generally immoral character

Explanation — A witness declaring another witness to be unworthy of credit may not upon his examination in chief, give reasons for his belief but he may be asked his reasons in cross examination and the answers which he gives cannot be contradicted, though, if they are false, he may afterwards be charged with giving false evidence

157. In order to corroborate the testimony of a witness, any former statement made by such witness relating to the same fact at or about the time when the fact took place, or before any authority legally competent to investigate the fact, may be proved statements of witness may be proved to corroborate later testimony as to same fact. What matters may be proved in connection with proved statement relevant under Section 32 or 33.

158 Whenever any statement, relevant under section 32 or 33 is proved, all matters may be proved either in order to contradict or to corroborate it, or in order to impeach or confirm the credit of the person by whom it was made, which might have been proved if that person had been called as a witness and had denied upon cross examination the truth of the matter suggested

Refreshing memory

159 A witness may while under examination refresh his memory by referring to any writing made by himself at the time of the transaction concerning which he is questioned or so soon afterwards that the Court considers it likely that the transaction was at that time fresh in his memory

The witness may also refer to any such writing made by any other person, and read by the witness within the time aforesaid, if when he read it he knew it to be correct

Whenever a witness may refresh his memory by reference to any document, he may, with the permission of the Court, refer to a copy of such document

OF THE COMMUNICATION, ACCEPTANCE AND REVOCATION OF PROPOSALS

3 The communication of proposals, the acceptance of proposals, and the revocation of proposals and acceptances, respectively, are deemed to be made by any act or omission of the party proposing, accepting or revoking by which he intends to communicate such proposal, acceptance or revocation, or which has the effect of communicating it

4 The communication of a proposal is complete when it comes to the knowledge of the person to whom it is made

The communication of an acceptance is complete,— as against the proposer, when it is put in a course of transmission to him so as to be out of the power of the acceptor.

as against the acceptor, when it comes to the knowledge of the proposer

The communication of a revocation is complete,— as against the person who makes it, when it is put into a course of transmission to the person to whom it is made, so as to be out of the power of the person who makes it.

as against the person to whom it is made, when it comes to his knowledge

(Chapter I.—Of the Communication, Acceptance and Revocation of Proposals.)

An acceptance may be revoked at any time before the communication of the acceptance is complete as against the acceptor, but not afterwards.

B accepts the proposal by a letter sent by post

A may revoke his proposal at any time before or at the moment when B posts his letter of acceptance, but not afterwards

B may revoke his acceptance at any time before or at the moment when the letter communicating it reaches A, but not afterwards

Revocation
how made.

6. A proposal is revoked—

- (1) by the communication of notice of revocation by the proposer to the other party;
- (2) by the lapse of the time prescribed in such proposal for its acceptance, or, if no time is so prescribed, by the lapse of a reasonable time, without communication of the acceptance;
- (3) by the failure of the acceptor to fulfil a condition precedent to acceptance; or
- (4) by the death or insanity of the proposer, if the fact of his death or insanity comes to the knowledge of the acceptor before acceptance.

Acceptance
must be absolute.

7. In order to convert a proposal into a promise, the acceptance must—

- (1) be absolute and unqualified;
- (2) be expressed in some usual and reasonable manner, unless the proposal prescribes the manner in which it is to be accepted. If the proposal prescribes a manner in which it is to be accepted, and the acceptance is not made in such manner, the proposer may, within a reasonable time after the acceptance is communicated to him, insist that his proposal shall be accepted in the prescribed manner, and not otherwise; but if he fails to do so, he accepts the acceptance.

Acceptance
by performing, conditions, or receiving consideration.

8. Performance of the conditions of a proposal, or the acceptance of any consideration for a reciprocal promise which may be offered with a proposal, is an acceptance of the proposal.

Promises, express and implied

9. In so far as the proposal or acceptance of any promise is made in words, the promise is said to be express. In so far as such proposal or acceptance is made otherwise than in words, the promise is said to be implied.

OF CONTRACTS, VOIDABLE CONTRACTS AND VOID AGREEMENTS

10 All agreements are contracts¹ if they are made by the free consent of parties competent to contract, for a lawful consideration² and with a lawful object, and are not hereby expressly declared to be void

What agreements are contracts.

Nothing herein contained shall affect any law in force in British India, and not hereby expressly repealed, by which any contract is required to be made in writing³ or in the presence of witnesses, or any law relating to the registration of documents

11 Every person is competent to contract who is of the age of majority according to the law to which he is subject,⁴ and who is of sound mind, and is not disqualified from contracting by any law to which he is subject

Who are competent to contract.

12 A person is said to be of sound mind for the purpose of making a contract if, at the time when he makes it, he is capable of understanding it and of forming a rational judgment as to its effect upon his interests

What is a sound mind for the purpose of contracting

A person who is usually of unsound mind, but occasionally of sound mind, may make a contract when he is of sound mind

A person who is usually of sound mind, but occasionally of unsound mind, may not make a contract when he is of unsound mind

Illustrations

(a) A patient in a lunatic asylum who is at intervals of sound mind may contract during those intervals

(b) A sane man who is delirious from fever or who is so drunk that he cannot understand the terms of a contract or form a rational judgment as to its effect on his interests, cannot contract whilst such delirium or drunkenness lasts

13 Two or more persons are said to consent when they agree upon the same thing in the same sense

"Consent" defined.

(Chapter II—Of Contracts, Voidable Contracts and Void Agreements)

"Free consent" defined

14. Consent is said to be free when it is not caused by—

- (1) coercion, as defined in section 15, or
- (2) undue influence, as defined in section 16, or
- (3) fraud, as defined in section 17, or
- (4) misrepresentation, as defined in section 18, or
- (5) mistake subject to the provisions of sections 20, 21 and 22

Consent is said to be so caused when it would not have been given but for the existence of such coercion, undue influence, fraud, misrepresentation or mistake

"Coercion" defined

15 "Coercion" is the committing, or threatening to commit, any act forbidden by the Indian Penal Code,¹ or the unlawful detaining, or threatening to detain, any property, to the prejudice of any person whatever, with the intention of causing any person to enter into an agreement

Explanation—It is immaterial whether the Indian Penal Code¹ is or is not in force in the place where the coercion is employed

Illustrations

"Undue influence" defined

²16 (1) A contract is said to be induced by "undue influence" where the relations subsisting between the parties are such that one of the parties is in a position to dominate the will of the other and uses that position to obtain an unfair advantage over the other

(2) In particular and without prejudice to the generality of the foregoing principle, a person is deemed to be in a position to dominate the will of another—

- (a) where he holds a real or apparent authority over the other, or where he stands in a fiduciary relation to the other or
- (b) where he makes a contract with a person whose mental capacity is temporarily or permanently affected by reason of age, illness, or mental or bodily distress

(3) Where a person who is in a position to dominate the will of another, enters into a contract with him, and the transaction appears, on the face of it or on the evidence adduced, to be unconscionable, the burden of proving that such contract was not induced by undue influence shall lie upon the person in a position to dominate the will of the other

Nothing in this sub section shall affect the provisions of section 111 of the Indian Evidence Act, 1872¹

(a) A having advanced money to his son B during his minority, upon B's coming of age obtains by misuse of parental influence a bond from B for a greater amount than the sum due in respect of the advance. A employs undue influence.

(b) A a man enfeebled by disease or age is induced by B's influence over him as his medical attendant to agree to pay B an unreasonable sum for his professional services. B employs undue influence.

(c) A being in debt to B the money lender of his village contracts a fresh loan on terms which appear to be unconscionable. It lies on B to prove that the contract was not induced by undue influence.

(d) A applies to a banker for a loan at a time when there is stringency in the money market. The banker declines to make the loan except at an unusually high rate of interest. A accepts the loan on these terms. This is a transaction in the ordinary course of business and the contract is not induced by undue influence.

17. "Fraud" means and includes any of the following acts committed by a party to a contract, or with his connivance, or by his agent,² with intent to deceive another party thereto or his agent, or to induce him to enter into the contract —

"Fraud" defined.

(1) the suggestion, as to a fact, of that which is not true by one who does not believe it to be true,

(2) the active concealment of a fact by one having knowledge or belief of the fact,

(3) a promise made without any intention of performing it,

(4) any other act fitted to deceive,

(5) any such act or omission as the law specially declares to be fraudulent.

Explanation — Mere silence as to facts likely to affect the willingness of a person to enter into a contract is not fraud, unless the circumstances of the case are such that, regard being had to them, it is the duty of the person keeping silence to speak,³ or unless his silence is, in itself, equivalent to speech.

(d) A and B being traders enter upon a contract. A has private information of a change in prices which would affect B's willingness to proceed with the contract. A is not bound to inform B.

“Misrepresentation” defined

18 “Misrepresentation” means and includes—

- (1) the positive assertion, in a manner not warranted by the information of the person making it, of that which is not true though he believes it to be true,
- (2) any breach of duty which, without an intent to deceive, gains an advantage to the person committing it, or any one claiming under him, by misleading another to his prejudice or to the prejudice of any one claiming under him;
- (3) causing, however innocently, a party to an agreement to make a mistake as to the substance of the thing which is the subject of the agreement

of agreements with out free consent.

19 When consent to an agreement is caused by coercion, * * *
* * *¹, fraud or misrepresentation, the agreement is a contract voidable at the option of the party whose consent was so caused

A party to a contract, whose consent was caused by fraud or misrepresentation, may, if he thinks fit, insist that the contract shall be performed, and that he shall be put in the position in which he would have been if the representations made had been true

Exception—If such consent was caused by misrepresentation or by silence, fraudulent within the meaning of section 17, the contract, nevertheless, is not voidable, if the party whose consent was so caused had the means of discovering the truth with ordinary diligence

Explanation—A fraud or misrepresentation which did not cause the consent to a contract of the party on whom such fraud was practised, or to whom such misrepresentation was made, does not render a contract voidable

Illustrations

(a) A intending to deceive B falsely represents that five hundred maunds of indigo are made annually at A's factory and thereby induces B to buy the factory. The contract is voidable at the option of B

(b) A by a misrepresentation, leads B erroneously to believe that five hundred maunds of indigo are made annually at A's factory. B examines the accounts of the factory which show that only four hundred maunds of indigo have been made. After this B buys the factory. The contract is not voidable on account of A's misrepresentation

(c) A fraudulently informs B that A's estate is free from incumbrance. B thereupon

What considerations and objects are lawful and what not

23. The consideration or object of an agreement is lawful, unless—it is forbidden by law¹; or is of such a nature that, if permitted, it would defeat the provisions of any law; or is fraudulent; or involves or implies injury to the person or property of another; or the Court regards it as immoral, or opposed to public policy.

In each of these cases, the consideration or object of an agreement is said to be unlawful. Every agreement of which the object or consideration is unlawful is void.

(a) A agrees to sell his house to B for 10,000 rupees. Here B's promise to pay the sum of 10,000 rupees is the consideration for A's promise to sell the house, and A's promise to sell the house is the consideration for B's promise to pay the 10,000 rupees. These are

(h) A promises B to drop a prosecution which he has instituted against B for robbery, and B promises to restore the value of the things taken. The agreement is void, as its object is unlawful.

(i) A's estate is sold for arrears of revenue under the provisions of an Act of the Legislature, by which the defaulter is prohibited from purchasing the estate. B, upon an understanding with A, becomes the purchaser, and agrees to convey the estate to A upon receiving from him the price which B has paid. The agreement is void, as it renders the transaction, in effect, a purchase by the defaulter, and would so defeat the object of the law.

(j) A, who is B's mukhtar, promises to exercise his influence, as such, with B in favour of C, and C promises to pay 1,000 rupees to A. The agreement is void, because it is immoral.

(k) A agrees to let her daughter to hire to B for concubinage. The agreement is void, because it is immoral, though the letting may not be punishable under the Indian Penal Code.¹

Void Agreements.

24. If any part of a single consideration for one or more objects, or any one or any part of any one of several considerations for a single object, is unlawful, the agreement is void.

Agreements void, if considerations and objects unlawful in part.

25. An agreement made without consideration is void, unless—

(1) it is expressed in writing and registered under the law for the time being in force for the registration of [documents],¹ and is made on account of natural love and affection between parties standing in a near relation to each other, or unless

(2) it is a promise to compensate, wholly or in part, a person who has already voluntarily done something for the promisor, or something which the promisor was legally compellable to do, or unless

(3) it is a promise, made in writing and signed by the person to be charged therewith, or by his agent generally or specially authorized in that behalf, to pay wholly or in part a debt of which the creditor might have enforced payment but for the law for the limitation of suits

Agreement without consideration, void, unless it is in writing and registered, or is a promise to compensate for some thing done, or is a promise to pay a debt barred by limitation law

In any of these cases, such an agreement is a contract

Explanation 1—Nothing in this section shall affect the validity, as between the donor and donee, of any gift actually made

Explanation 2—An agreement to which the consent of the promisor is freely given is not void merely because the consideration is inadequate, but the inadequacy of the consideration may be taken into account by the Court in determining the question whether the consent of the promisor was freely given

Illustrations

(a) A promises, for no consideration, to give to B Rs 1 000. This is a void agreement.

(b) A, for natural love and affection, promises to give his son, B, Rs 1,000. A puts his promise to B into writing and registers it. This is a contract.

(c) A finds B's purse and gives it to him. B promises to give A Rs 50. This is a contract.

(d) A supports B's infant son. B promises to pay A's expenses in so doing. This is a contract.

(e) A owes B Rs 1 000, but the debt is barred by the Limitation Act. A signs a written promise to pay B Rs 500 on account of the debt. This is a contract.

(g) A agrees to sell a horse worth Rs 1,000 for Rs 10. A denies that his consent to the agreement was freely given.

The inadequacy of the consideration is a fact which the Court should take into account in considering whether or not A's consent was freely given.

CHAPTER IV

OF THE PERFORMANCE OF CONTRACTS

Contracts which must be performed

37 The parties to a contract must either perform, or offer to perform, their respective promises, unless such performance is dispensed with or excused under the provisions of this Act, or of any other law.

Obligation of parties to contracts

Promises bind the representatives of the promisors in case of the death of such promisors before performance, unless a contrary intention appears from the contract.

Illustrations

(a) A promises to deliver to B goods on a certain day on payment of Rs. 1 000. A dies before the day. The contract cannot be enforced either by A's representatives or by B.

(b) A promises to deliver to B goods on a certain day at a certain price. A dies before the day. The contract cannot be enforced either by A's representatives or by B.

38 Where a promisor has made an offer of performance to the promisee and the offer has not been accepted, the promisor is not responsible for non-performance, nor does he thereby lose his rights under the contract.

Effect of refusal to accept offer of performance

Every such offer must fulfil the following conditions —

(1) it must be unconditional

(2) It must be made at a proper time and place, and under such circumstances that the person to whom it is made may have a reasonable opportunity of ascertaining that the person by whom it is made is able and willing there and then to do the whole of what he is bound by his promise to do.

(3) if the offer is an offer to deliver anything to the promisee, the promisee must have a reasonable opportunity of seeing that the thing

offered is the thing which the promisor is bound by his promise to deliver

An offer to one of several joint promisees has the same legal consequences as an offer to all of them

Illustration

A contracts to deliver to B at his warehouse, on the 1st March, 1873, 100 bales of cotton of a particular quality. In order to make an offer of a performance with the effect stated in this section A must bring the cotton to B's warehouse on the appointed day under such circumstances that B may have a reasonable opportunity of satisfying himself that the thing offered is cotton of the quality contracted for and that there are 100 bales

Effect of refusal of party to perform promise wholly

39. When a party to a contract has refused to perform, or disabled himself from performing, his promise in its entirety, the promisee may put an end to the contract, unless he has signified, by words or conduct, his acquiescence in its continuance

Illustrations

(a) A, a singer, enters into a contract with B the manager of a theatre to sing at his theatre two nights in every week during the next two months and B engages to pay her 100 rupees for each night's performance. On the sixth night A wilfully absents herself from the theatre. B is at liberty to put an end to the contract of a theatre to sing at his and B engages to pay her wilfully absents herself signified his acquiescence in the continuance of the contract and cannot now put an end to it but is entitled to compensation for the damage sustained by him through A's failure to sing on the sixth night.

By whom Contracts must be performed

Person by whom promise is to be performed

40. If it appears from the nature of the case that it was the intention of the parties to any contract that any promise contained in it should be performed by the promisor himself, such promise must be performed by the promisor. In other cases, the promisor or his representatives may employ a competent person to perform it

Illustrations

(a) A promises to pay B a sum of money. A may perform this promise either by personally paying the money to B or by causing it to be paid to B by another and if A dies before the time appointed for payment his representatives must perform the promise or employ some proper person to do so

(b) A promises to paint a picture for B. A must perform this promise personally

Effect of accepting performance from third person.

41. When a promisee accepts performance of the promise from a third person, he cannot afterwards enforce it against the promisor

Devolution of joint liabilities.

42. When two or more persons have made a joint promise, then, unless a contrary intention appears by the contract, all such persons,

(Chapter IV—Of the Performance of Contracts)

during their joint lives, and after the death, of any of them, his representative jointly with the survivor or survivors, and after the death of the last survivor, the representatives of all jointly, must fulfil the promise

43. When two or more persons make a joint promise, the promisee may, in the absence of express agreement to the contrary, compel any ¹[one or more] of such joint promisors to perform the whole of the promise

Any one of joint promisors may be compelled to perform.

Each of two or more joint promisors may compel every other joint promisor to contribute equally with himself to the performance of the promise, unless a contrary intention appears from the contract

Each promisor may compel contribution

If any one of two or more joint promisors makes default in such contribution, the remaining joint promisors must bear the loss arising from such default in equal shares

Sharing of loss by default in contribution

Explanation—Nothing in this section shall prevent a surety from recovering from his principal, payments made by the surety on behalf of the principal or entitle the principal to recover anything from the surety on account of payments made by the principal

(a) A, B and C jointly promise to pay D 3 000 rupees. D may compel either A or B or C to pay him 3 000 rupees

(b) A, B and C jointly promise to pay D the sum of 3 000 rupees. C is compelled to pay the whole. A is insolvent but his assets are sufficient to pay one half of his debt. C is entitled to receive 500 rupees from A's estate and 1 250 rupees from B

(c) A, B and C are under a joint promise to pay D 3 000 rupees. C is unable to pay anything and A is compelled to pay the whole. A is entitled to receive 1 500 rupees from B

(d) A, B and C are under a joint promise to pay D 3 000 rupees. A and B being only sureties for C, C fails to pay. A and B are compelled to pay the whole sum. They are entitled to recover it from C

44. Where two or more persons have made a joint promise, a release of one of such joint promisors by the promisee does not discharge the other joint promisor or joint promisors, neither does it free the joint promisor so released from responsibility to the other joint promisor or joint promisors ²

Effect of release of one joint promisor

45. When a person has made a promise to two or more persons jointly, then, unless a contrary intention appears from the contract, the right to claim performance rests, as between him and them, with them during their joint lives, and, after the death of any of them, with the representative of such deceased person jointly with the survivor or survivors, and, after the death of the last survivor, with the representatives of all jointly ¹

The right to claim performance rests with B's representative jointly with C during C's life, and after the death of C with the representatives of B and C jointly.

Time and Place for Performance

46. Where, by the contract, a promisor is to perform his promise without application by the promisee, and no time for performance is specified, the engagement must be performed within a reasonable time.

Explanation—The question "what is a reasonable time" is, in each particular case, a question of fact.

47. When a promise is to be performed on a certain day, and the promisor has undertaken to perform it without application by the promisee, the promisor may perform it at any time during the usual hours of business on such day and at the place at which the promise ought to be performed.

Illustration

A promises to deliver goods at B's warehouse on the first January. On that day A brings the goods to B's warehouse, but after the usual hour for closing it, and they are not received. A has not performed his promise.

48. When a promise is to be performed on a certain day, and the promisor has not undertaken to perform it without application by the promisee, it is the duty of the promisee to apply for performance at a proper place and within the usual hours of business.

Explanation—The question "what is a proper time and place" is, in each particular case, a question of fact.

49. When a promise is to be performed without application by the promisee, and no place is fixed for the performance of it, it is the duty of the promisor to apply to the promisee to appoint a reasonable place for the performance of the promise, and to perform it at such place.

Illustration

A undertakes to deliver a thousand maunds of jute to B on a fixed day. A must apply to B to appoint a reasonable place for the purpose of receiving it, and must deliver it to him at such place.

Performance of Reciprocal Promises

Effect of default as to that promise which should be first performed, in contract consisting of reciprocal promises.

54. When a contract consists of reciprocal promises, such that one of them cannot be performed, or that its performance cannot be claimed till the other has been performed, and the promisor of the promise last mentioned fails to perform it, such promisor cannot claim the performance of the reciprocal promise, and must make compensation to the other party to the contract for any loss which such other party may sustain by the non-performance of the contract.

the contract

Effect of failure to perform at fixed time, in contract in which time is essential.

55. When a party to a contract promises to do a certain thing at or before a specified time, or certain things at or before specified times, and fails to do any such thing at or before the specified time, the contract, or so much of it as has not been performed, becomes voidable at the option of the promisee, if the intention of the parties was that time should be of the essence of the contract.

Effect of such failure when time is not essential

If it was not the intention of the parties that time should be of the essence of the contract, the contract does not become voidable by the failure to do such thing at or before the specified time; but the promisee is entitled to compensation from the promisor for any loss occasioned to him by such failure.

Effect of acceptance of performance at time other

If, in case of a contract voidable on account of the promisor's failure to perform his promise at the time agreed, the promisee accepts performance of such promise at any time other than that agreed, the promisee cannot claim compensation for any loss occasioned by the non performance of the promise at the time agreed, unless, at the time of such acceptance he gives notice to the promisor of his intention to do so ¹ than that agreed upon.

Exception 1 —When any person is, by the consent of the owner, in possession of any goods, or of any bill of lading, dock warrant, warehouse keeper's certificate, wharfinger's certificate or warrant or order for delivery, or other document showing title to goods, he may transfer the ownership of the goods of which he is so in possession, or to which such documents relate, to any other person, and give such person a good title thereto, notwithstanding any instructions of the owner to the contrary Provided that the buyer acts in good faith, and under circumstances which are not such as to raise a reasonable presumption that the person in possession of the goods or documents has no right to sell the goods

Exception 2 —If one of several joint owners of goods has the sole possession of them by the permission of the co owners the ownership of the goods is transferred to any person who buys them of such joint-owner in good faith, and under circumstances which are not such as to raise a reasonable presumption that the person in possession of the goods has no right to sell them

Exception 3 —When a person has obtained possession of goods under a contract voidable at the option of the other party thereto, the ownership of the goods is transferred to a third person who, before the contract is rescinded, buys them in good faith of the person in possession, unless the circumstances which render the contract voidable amounted to an offence committed by the person in possession or those whom he represents

In the case the original seller is entitled to compensation from the original purchaser for any loss which the seller may have sustained by being prevented from rescinding the contract

OF INDEMNITY AND GUARANTEE

"Contract of indemnity" defined

124. A contract by which one party promises to save the other from loss caused to him by the conduct of the promisor himself, or by the conduct of any other person, is called a "contract of indemnity."

Illustration

A contracts to indemnify B against the consequences of any proceedings which C may take against B in respect of a certain sum of 200 rupees. This is a contract of indemnity.

Rights of indemnity holder when sued.

125. The promisee in a contract of indemnity, acting within the scope of his authority, is entitled to recover from the promisor—

(1) all damages which he may be compelled to pay in any suit in respect of any matter to which the promise to indemnify applies,

(2) all costs which he may be compelled to pay in any such suit if, in bringing or defending it, he did not contravene the orders of the promisor, and acted as it would have been prudent for him to act in the absence of any contract of indemnity, or if the promisor authorized him to bring or defend the suit,

(3) all sums which he may have paid under the terms of any compromise of any such suit, if the compromise was not contrary to the orders of the promisor, and was one which it would have been prudent for the promisee to make in the absence of any contract of indemnity, or if the promisor authorized him to compromise the suit.

"Contract of guarantee," "surety," "principal debtor," and "creditor."

126. A "contract of guarantee" is a contract to perform the promise, or discharge the liability, of a third person in case of his default. The person who gives the guarantee is called the "surety", the person in respect of whose default the guarantee is given is called the "principal debtor," and the person to whom the guarantee is given is called the "creditor." A guarantee may be either oral or written.

Consideration or guarantee

127. Anything done, or any promise made, for the benefit of the principal debtor may be a sufficient consideration to the surety for giving the guarantee.

Illustrations

(a) B requests A to sell and deliver to him goods on credit. A agrees to do so, provided C will guarantee the payment of the price of the goods. C promises to guarantee the payment in consideration of A's promise to deliver the goods. This is a sufficient consideration for C's promise.

(b) A sells and delivers goods to B. C afterwards requests A to forbear to sue B for the debt for a year, and promises that if he does so, C will pay for them in default of payment by B. A agrees to forbear as requested. This is a sufficient consideration for C's promise.

(c) A sells and delivers goods to B. C afterwards, without consideration, agrees to pay for them in default of B. The agreement is void.

Release of one co-surety does not discharge others.

(b) C, a creditor, whose advance to B is secured by a decree, receives also a guarantee for that advance from A. C afterwards takes B's goods in execution under the decree, and then, without the knowledge of A, withdraws the execution. A is discharged.

(c) A, as surety for B, makes a bond jointly with B to C, to secure a loan from C to B. Afterwards, C obtains from B a further security for the same debt. Subsequently, C gives up the further security. A is not discharged.

142. Any guarantee which has been obtained by means of misrepresentation made by the creditor, or with his knowledge and assent, concerning a material part of the transaction, is invalid.

143. Any guarantee which the creditor has obtained by means of keeping silence as to material circumstances is invalid.

Illustrations

(a) A engages B as clerk to collect money for him. B fails to account for some of his receipts, and A in consequence calls upon him to furnish security for his duly accounting. C gives his guarantee for B's duly accounting. A does not acquaint C with B's previous conduct. B afterwards makes default. The guarantee is invalid.

(b) A guarantees to C payment for iron to be supplied by him to B to the amount of 2,000 tons. B and C have privately agreed that B should pay five rupees per ton beyond the market price, such excess to be applied in liquidation of an old debt. This agreement is concealed from A. A is not liable as a surety.

144. Where a person gives a guarantee upon a contract that the creditor shall not act upon it until another person has joined in it as co-surety, the guarantee is not valid if that other person does not join.

145. In every contract of guarantee there is an implied promise by the principal debtor to indemnify the surety, and the surety is entitled to recover from the principal debtor whatever sum he has rightfully paid under the guarantee, but no sums which he has paid wrongfully.

Illustrations

(a) B is indebted to C, and A is surety for the debt. C demands payment from A, and on his refusal sues him for the amount. A defends the suit, having reasonable grounds for doing so, but is compelled to pay the amount of the debt with costs. He can recover from B the amount paid by him for costs as well as the principal debt.

A cannot recover from B more than the price of the rice actually supplied.

146. Where two or more persons are co-sureties for the same debt or duty, either jointly or severally, and whether under the same or different contracts, and whether with or without the knowledge of each other, the co-sureties, in the absence of any contract to the contrary, are liable, as between themselves, to pay each an equal share of the whole debt, or of that part of it which remains unpaid by the principal debtor.¹

CHAPTER IX.

OF BAILMENT.

148. A "bailment" is the delivery of goods by one person to another for some purpose, upon a contract that they shall, when the purpose is accomplished, be returned or otherwise disposed of according to the directions of the person delivering them. The person delivering the goods is called the "bailor." The person to whom they are delivered is called the "bailee."

"Bailment,"
"bailor," and
"bailee,"
defined.

(Chapter IX.—Of Bailment)

Explanation.—If a person already in possession of the goods of another contracts to hold them as a bailee, he thereby becomes the bailee, and the owner becomes the bailor, of such goods although they may not have been delivered by way of bailment.

Delivery to Bailor's duty to disclose faults in goods bailed

140. The delivery to the bailee may be made by doing anything which has the effect of putting the goods in the possession of the intended bailee or of any person authorized to hold them on his behalf.

150. The bailor is bound to disclose to the bailee faults in the goods bailed, of which the bailor is aware, and which materially interfere with the use of them, or expose the bailee to extraordinary risks; and, if he does not make such disclosure, he is responsible for damage arising to the bailee directly from such faults.

If the goods are bailed for hire, the bailor is responsible for such damage, whether he was or was not aware of the existence of such faults in the goods bailed.

Illustrations

(a) A lends a horse, which he knows to be vicious, to B. He does not disclose the fact that the horse is vicious. The horse runs away. B is thrown and injured. A is responsible to B for damage sustained.

(b) A hires a carriage of B. The carriage is unsafe, though B is not aware of it, and A is injured. B is responsible to A for the injury.

Care to be taken by

151. In all cases of bailment the bailee is bound to take as much care of the goods bailed to him as a man of ordinary prudence would, under similar circumstances, take of his own goods of the same bulk, quality and value as the goods bailed.²

157 If the bailee without the consent of the bailor, mixes the goods of the bailor with his own goods, in such a manner that it is impossible to separate the goods bailed from the other goods and deliver them back, the bailor is entitled to be compensated by the bailee for the loss of the goods.

(2) when the lawful charges of the finder, in respect of the thing found, amount to two thirds of its value

170 Where the bailee has, in accordance with the purpose of the bailment rendered any service involving the exercise of labour or skill in respect of the goods bailed he has, in the absence of a contract to the contrary, a right to retain such goods until he receives due remuneration for the services he has rendered in respect of them

Bailments of Pledges

172 The bailment of goods as security for payment of a debt or performance of a promise is called 'pledge' The bailor is in this case called the "pawnor" The bailee is called the 'pawnee'

Pledge " pawnor " and pawnee " defined. Pawnee's right of retainer

173 The pawnee may retain the goods pledged not only for payment of the debt or the performance of the promise, but for the interest of the debt, and all necessary expenses incurred by him in respect of the possession or for the preservation of the goods pledged

Pawnee not to retain for debt or promise other than that for which goods pledged

Presumption in case of subsequent advances. Pawnee a right as to extra or ordinary expenses incurred

Pawnee a right where pawnor makes default

174 The pawnee shall not, in the absence of a contract to that effect retain the goods pledged for any debt or promise other than the debt or promise for which they are pledged, but such contract, in the absence of anything to the contrary, shall be presumed in regard to subsequent advances made by the pawnee

175 The pawnee is entitled to receive from the pawnor extraordinary expenses incurred by him for the preservation of the goods pledged

176 If the pawnor makes default in payment of the debt, or performance, at the stipulated time of the promise, in respect of which the goods were pledged, the pawnee may bring a suit against the pawnor upon the debt or promise, and retain the goods pledged as a collateral security or he may sell the thing pledged, on giving the pawnor reasonable notice of the sale

If the proceeds of such sale are less than the amount due in respect of the debt or promise, the pawnor is still liable to pay the balance. If the proceeds of the sale are greater than the amount so due, the pawnee shall pay over the surplus to the pawnor

Pawnor's right to redeem

177 If a time is stipulated for the payment of the debt, or performance of the promise for which the pledge is made, and the pawnor makes default in payment of the debt or performance of the promise at the stipulated time, he may redeem the goods pledged at any subsequent time before the actual sale of them¹, but he must, in that case, pay, in addition, any expenses which have arisen from his default

Pledge by possessor of goods or of documents title to goods

178 A person who is in possession of any goods, or of any bill of lading, dock warrant, warehouse keeper's certificate, wharfinger's certificate or warrant or order for delivery, or any other document of title to goods may make a valid pledge of such goods or documents. Provided that the pawnee acts in good faith, and under circumstances which are not such as to raise a reasonable presumption that the pawnor is acting improperly

Provided also that such goods or documents have not been obtained from their lawful owner, or from any person in lawful custody of them by means of an offence or fraud

179 Where a person pledges goods in which he has only a limited interest the pledge is valid to the extent of that interest

B has an implied authority from A to order goods from C in the name of A for the purposes of the shop.

Extent of agent's
authority

188 An agent having an authority to do an act has authority to do every lawful thing which is necessary in order to do such act.

An agent having an authority to carry on a business has authority to do every lawful thing necessary for the purpose, or usually done in the course of conducting such business.

Sub Agents

When agent cannot do more

190 An agent cannot lawfully employ another to perform acts which he has expressly or impliedly undertaken to perform personally, unless by the ordinary custom of trade a sub-agent may, or, from the nature of the agency a sub-agent must be employed.

"Sub-agent"
defined

191 A "sub-agent" is a person employed by, and acting under the control of the original agent in the business of the agency.

192 Where a sub-agent is properly appointed, the principal is, so far as regards third persons represented by the sub-agent, and is bound by and responsible for his acts as if he were an agent originally appointed by the principal.

The agent is responsible to the principal for the acts of the sub-agent.

The sub-agent is responsible for his acts to the agent but not to the principal except in case of fraud or wilful wrong.

(Chapter X — Agency)

193. Where an agent, without having authority to do so, has appointed a person to act as a sub-agent, the agent stands towards such person in the relation of a principal to an agent, and is responsible for his acts both to the principal and to third persons, the principal is not represented by or responsible for the acts of the person so employed, nor is that person responsible to the principal

Agent's responsibility for sub-agent appointed without authority

194. Where an agent, holding an express or implied authority to name another person to act for the principal in the business of the agency, has named another person accordingly, such person is not a sub-agent, but an agent of the principal for such part of the business of the agency as is entrusted to him

Agent's duty on selecting such person

(b) A consigns goods to B, a merchant, for sale. B, in due course, employs an auctioneer in good credit to sell the goods of A, and allows the auctioneer to receive the proceeds of the sale. The auctioneer afterwards becomes insolvent without having accounted for the proceeds. B is not responsible to A for the proceeds.

Ratification

196. Where acts are done by one person on behalf of another, but without his knowledge or authority, he may elect to ratify or to disown such acts. If he ratifies them, the same effects will follow as if they had been performed by his authority

Right of person to act done for him without his authority. Effect of ratification. Ratification may be expressed or implied.

200. An act done by one person on behalf of another, without such other person's authority, which, if done with authority, would have the effect of subjecting a third person to damages, or of terminating any right or interest of a third person, cannot, by ratification, be made to have such effect

Revocation of Authority.

Termination
 of agency

201. An agency is terminated by the principal revoking his authority, or by the agent renouncing the business of the agency, or by the business of the agency being completed; or by either the principal or agent dying or becoming of unsound mind, or by the principal being adjudicated an insolvent under the provisions of any Act for the time being in force for the relief of insolvent debtors.

 where agent

An agent is bound to conduct the business of his principal according to the directions given by the principal, or, in the absence of any such directions, according to the custom which prevails in doing business of the same kind at the place where the agent conducts such business. When the agent acts otherwise, if any loss be sustained, he must make it good to his principal, and, if any profit accrues, he must account for it.

Skill and diligence re-

agent.

212. An agent is bound to conduct the business of the agency with as much skill as is generally possessed by persons engaged in similar business, unless the principal has notice of his want of skill. The agent is always bound to act with reasonable diligence, and to use such skill as he possesses, and to make compensation to his principal in respect of the direct consequences of his own neglect, want of skill or misconduct, but not in respect of loss or damage which are indirectly or remotely caused by such neglect, want of skill or misconduct.

Agent's accounts

214 It is the duty of an agent, in cases of difficulty, to use all reasonable diligence in communicating with his principal, and in seeking to obtain his instructions¹

Agent's duty to communicate with principal

215 If an agent deals on his own account in the business of the agency, without first obtaining the consent of his principal and acquainting him with all material circumstances which have come to his own knowledge on the subject, the principal may repudiate the transaction, if the case shows either that any material fact has been dishonestly concealed from him by the agent, or that the dealings of the agent have been disadvantageous to him

OF THE SPECIFIC PERFORMANCE OF CONTRACTS

(a) Contracts which may be specifically enforced

12 Except as otherwise provided in this Chapter, the specific performance of any contract may in the discretion of the Court be enforced—

Cases in which specific performance enforceable.

(a) when the act agreed to be done is in the performance, wholly or partly, of a trust,

(b) when there exists no standard for ascertaining the actual damage caused by non performance of the act agreed to be done,

(c) when the act agreed to be done is such that pecuniary compensation for its non performance would not afford adequate relief, or

(d) when it is probable that pecuniary compensation cannot be got for the non performance of the act agreed to be done

EXPLANATION—Unless and until the contrary is proved, the Court shall presume that the breach of a contract to transfer immovable property cannot be adequately relieved by compensation in money, and that the breach of a contract to transfer moveable property can be thus relieved an obligation on A to restore the same quantity of stock to B and B may enforce specific performance of this obligation.

of clause (b)—

A agrees to buy and B agrees to sell, a picture by a dead painter and two rare China vases. A may compel B specifically to perform this contract for there is no standard for ascertaining the actual damage which would be caused by its non performance of clause (c)—

A contracts with B to sell him a house for Rs 1 000 B is entitled to a decree directing for his interest in its performance cannot be adequately compensated for by money and the Court may appoint a proper person to superintend the construction of the archway road, siding and wharf of clause (d)—

B may compel C to endorse the note for C has succeeded to A's liabilities and a decree for pecuniary compensation for not endorsing the note would be fruitless

Contract of which the subject has partially ceased to exist.

13 Notwithstanding anything contained in section 56 of the Indian Contract Act,¹ a contract is not wholly impossible of performance because a portion of its subject matter, existing at its date has ceased to exist at the time of the performance

Specific performance of part of contract where part unperformed is small

14 Where a party to a contract is unable to perform the whole of its part of it, but the part which must be left unperformed bears only a small proportion to the whole in value, and admits of compensation in money, the Court may, at the suit of either party, direct the specific performance of so much of the contract as can be performed and award compensation in money for the deficiency

15 Where a party to a contract is unable to perform the whole of his part of it and the part which must be left unperformed forms a considerable portion of the whole, or does not admit of compensation in money, he is not entitled to obtain a decree for specific performance. But the Court may, at the suit of the other party, direct the party in default to perform specifically so much of his part of the contract as he can perform, provided that the plaintiff relinquishes all claim to further performance, and all right to compensation either for the deficiency, or for the loss or damage sustained by him through the default of the defendant.

When a part of a contract which, taken by itself, can and ought to be specifically performed, stands on a separate and independent footing from another part of the same contract which cannot or ought not to be specifically performed, the Court may direct specific performance of the former part.

against vendor with in perfect title

18. Where a person contracts to sell or let certain property, having only an imperfect title thereto the purchaser or lessee (except as otherwise provided by this Chapter) has the following rights —

- (b) where the concurrence of other persons is necessary to validate the title and they are bound to convey at the vendor's or lessor's request the purchaser or lessee may compel him to procure such concurrence ,
- (c) where the vendor professes to sell unincumbered property, but the property is mortgaged for an amount not exceeding the purchase money and the vendor has in fact only a right to redeem it the purchaser may compel him to redeem the mortgage and to obtain a conveyance from the mortgagee ,
- (d) where the vendor or lessor sues for specific performance of the contract and the suit is dismissed on the ground of his imperfect title the defendant has a right to a return of his deposit (if any) with interest thereon to his costs of the suit and to a lien for such deposit interest and costs on the interest of the vendor or lessor in the property agreed to be sold or let

award compensation in certain cases

19 Any person suing for the specific performance of a contract may also ask for compensation for its breach either in addition to or in substitution for, such performance

If in any such suit the Court decides that specific performance ought not to be granted but that there is a contract between the parties which has been broken by the defendant and that the plaintiff is entitled to compensation for that breach it shall award him compensation accordingly

If in any such suit the Court decides that specific performance ought to be granted but that it is not sufficient to satisfy the justice of the case and that some compensation for breach of the contract should also be made to the plaintiff, it shall award him such compensation accordingly

Compensation awarded under this section may be assessed in such manner as the Court may direct

EXPLANATION —The circumstance that the contract has become incapable of specific performance does not preclude the Court from exercising the jurisdiction conferred by this section contract and has broken it without excuse to the injury of B but that specific performance is not the proper remedy It shall award to B such compensation as it deems just

of the third paragraph—

A contracts with B to sell him a house for Rs 1 000 the price to be paid and the possession given on the 1st January 1877 A fails to perform his part of the contract and B brings his suit for specific performance and compensation which is decided in his favour on the 1st January 1878 The decree may besides ordering specific performance award to B compensation for any loss which he has sustained by A's refusal.

of the Explanation—

A sues for the specific performance of a resolution passed by the Directors of a public company under which he was entitled to have a certain number of shares allotted to him and for compensation for the non performance of the resolution All the shares had been allotted before the institution of the suit The Court may, under this section award A compensation for the non performance

20. A contract, otherwise proper to be specifically enforced may be thus enforced though a sum be named in it as the amount to be paid in case of its breach and the party in default is willing to pay the same

The following are cases in which the Court may properly exercise a discretion not to decree specific performance

I Where the circumstances under which the contract is made are such as to give the plaintiff an unfair advantage over the defendant, though there may be no fraud or misrepresentation on the plaintiff's part

(k) A contracts with B to buy from B's manufactory and not elsewhere all the goods of a certain class used by A in his trade. The Court cannot compel B to supply the goods, but if he does not supply them A may be ruined unless he is allowed to buy them elsewhere. Specific performance of the contract should be refused to B.

The following is a case in which the Court may properly exercise a discretion to decree specific performance —

III Where the plaintiff has done substantial acts or suffered losses in consequence of a contract capable of specific performance

- (c) where a decree for specific performance of a contract of sale, or of a contract to take a lease, has been made, and the purchaser or lessee makes default in payment of the purchase-money or other sums which the Court has ordered him to pay

When the purchaser or lessee is in possession of the subject-matter, and the Court finds that such possession is wrongful, the Court may also order him to pay to the vendor or lessor the rents and profits, if any, received by him as such possessor

In the same case, the Court may, by order in the suit in which the decree has been made and not complied with, rescind the contract, either so far as regards the party in default, or altogether, as the justice of the case may require.

(Chapter V.—Levy of, and Exemption from, Customs duties)

26 Any goods produced or manufactured in British India which have been exported therefrom, and on the exportation of which any drawback of excise has been received, shall on being imported into any customs port, be subjected, unless the Chief Customs authority in any particular case otherwise directs by special order, to payment of excise duty, at the rate to which goods of the like kind and quality are liable at such port

Excise duty on importation of certain country goods

27 All goods derelict jettam, flotsam and wreck, brought or coming into any place in British India, shall be subject to the same duties, if any, to which goods of the like kind are for the time being subject on importation at any customs port, and shall in other respects be dealt with as if they were imported from a foreign port, unless it be shown to the satisfaction of the Customs collector that such goods are the produce or manufacture of any place from which they are entitled to be admitted duty free

Goods derelict and wreck

28 Provisions and stores produced or manufactured in British India required for use on board of any vessel proceeding to any foreign port, may be shipped free of duty, whether of customs or excise, in such quantities as the Customs collector determines with reference to the tonnage of the vessel, the numbers of the crew and passengers, and the length of the voyage on which the vessel is about to depart

Country provisions and stores may be shipped free of duty

Provided that no rum shall be so shipped on any vessel going on a voyage of less than thirty days' probable duration

29 On the importation into, or exportation from, any customs port of any goods, whether liable to duty or not, the owner of such goods shall, in his bill of entry or shipping bill, as the case may be, state the real value, quantity and description of such goods to the best of his knowledge and belief, and shall subscribe a declaration of the truth of such statement at the foot of such bill

Owner to declare real value, &c., of goods in bill of entry or shipping bill

In case of doubt, the Customs collector may require any such owner or any other person in possession of any invoice, broker's note, policy of insurance or other document, whereby the real value, quantity or description of any such goods can be ascertained, to produce the same, and to furnish any information relating to such value, quantity or description which it is in his power to furnish. And thereupon such person shall produce such document and furnish such information

Power to require production of invoice etc

Provided that, if the owner makes and subscribes a declaration before the Customs collector, to the effect that he is unable, from want of full information, to state the real value or contents of any case, package or parcel of goods, then the Customs collector shall permit him, previous to the entry thereof, (1) to open such case, package or parcel, and examine the contents in presence of an officer of Customs, or (2) to deposit such case, package or parcel in a public warehouse appointed under section 15 without warehousing the same, pending the production of such information

(Chapter I—Levy of, and Exemption from, Customs duties)

"Real value"
defined

30 For the purposes of this Act the real value shall be deemed to be—

- (a) the wholesale cash price, less trade discount, for which goods of the like kind and quality are sold, or are capable of being sold, at the time and place of importation or exportation, as the case may be, without any abatement or deduction whatever, except (in the case of goods imported) of the amount of the duties payable on the importation thereof or
- (b) where such price is not ascertainable, the cost at which goods of the like kind and quality could be delivered at such place, without any abatement or deduction except as aforesaid

Examination of ad valorem
goods

31 Goods chargeable with duty upon the value thereof but for which a specific value is not fixed by law for the purpose of levying duties thereon, shall, without unnecessary delay, be examined by an officer of Customs. If it appears that the real value of such goods is correctly stated in the bill of entry or shipping bill, the goods shall be assessed in accordance therewith.

Proceeds

goods are under valued
by owner

32 If it appears that such goods are properly chargeable with a higher rate or amount of duty than that to which they would be subject according to the value thereof as stated in the bill of entry or shipping bill, such officer may detain such goods

In every such case the detaining officer shall forthwith give notice in writing to the owner of the goods of their detention, and of the value thereof as estimated by him, and the Customs collector shall, within two clear working days after such detention, or within such reasonable period as may with the consent of the parties be arranged, determine either to deliver such goods on payment of duty charged according to the entry of such owner, or to retain the same for the use of Government.

If the goods be retained for the use of Government, the Customs-collector shall cause the full amount stated in the bill as their real value to be paid to the owner in full satisfaction for such goods in the same manner as if they had been transferred by ordinary sale, and shall, after due notice in the local official Gazette or some local newspaper, and without unnecessary delay, cause them to be put up to public auction in wholesale lots for cash on delivery.

If the Customs collector deems the highest offer made at such sale to be inadequate he may either adjourn the sale to some other day, to be notified as aforesaid or buy in the goods, and without unnecessary delay dispose of them for the benefit of Government.

If the proceeds arising from such sale exceed the sum paid to the owner, together with (in the case of goods imported) the duty to which the goods are liable and all charges incurred by Government in connection with them, a portion not exceeding one half of the overplus shall, at the discretion of the Chief Officer of Customs be payable to the officer who detected the undervaluation of the goods.

Nothing in this section shall prevent the Chief Officer of Customs, when he has reason to believe that any such under valuation was solely the result of accident or error, from permitting the owner of the goods on his application for that purpose, to amend such entry on payment of such increased rate of duties on the excess of the amended over the original valuation, or on such other terms as the Chief Officer of Customs may determine

33 If on the first examination of any such goods under section 31, the owner thereof states in writing that such goods are in consequence of damage sustained before delivery of the bill of entry, of value less than that stated in such bill the Customs collector on being satisfied of the fact, may allow abatement of duty accordingly

Abatement allowed on damaged goods

The reduced duty to be levied on such goods may be ascertained by either of the following methods at the option of the owner —

Reduced duty how determined

(a) the real value of such goods may be fixed on appraisement by an officer of Customs and the duty may be assessed on the value so fixed, or

(b) the goods may, after due notice in the local official Gazette or some local newspaper, be sold by public auction at such time (within thirty days from the date of delivery of the bill of entry), and at such place as the Customs collector appoints, and the duty may be assessed on the gross amount realized by such sale, without any abatement or deduction except (in the case of goods imported) of so much as represents the duties payable on the importation thereof

34 When any goods the value of which has been fixed by law for the purpose of levying duties thereon, have, before delivery of the bill of entry, deteriorated to the extent of more than one tenth of their value, the duty on such goods shall, if the owner thereof so desires, be assessed ad valorem

Deterioration of first value goods

The real value of such goods shall be ascertained as provided in section 33; and the duty shall be assessed thereon

35 No abatement of duty on account of damage shall be allowed on wine, spirit or beer, or on any other articles on which duties are levied on quantity and not on value

36 Except as provided in section 34, no amendment of a bill of entry or shipping bill relating to goods assessed for duty on the declared value quantity or description thereof shall be allowed after such goods have been removed from the custom house

160 Before any coasting vessel departs from any customs port at which she has touched during her voyage, the master shall re deliver the original manifest to the Customs collector, after indicating thereon the portions (if any) of the cargo therein described which have been discharged, and sub joining thereto a true specification of all goods shipped at such port. He shall also deliver a duplicate, signed by him, of the specification so subjoined.

Departure from intermediate port.

If the Customs collector sees no objection to the departure of the vessel, he shall proceed as prescribed in the second clause of section 158.

161 The Customs collector may for sufficient reason, refuse port clearance to any coasting vessel declared to be bound to, or about to touch at, any customs port, unless the owner or master gives a bond, with such security as the Customs collector deems sufficient for the production to the Customs collector of a certificate from the proper officer of the port to which such vessel is said to be bound, of her arrival at such port within a reasonable time to be prescribed in each case by the Customs collector.

Power to require bond before port-clearance is granted.

162 When permission has been granted by the Customs collector for the discharge of cargo from any coasting vessel—

Discharge of cargo

(a) if the vessel has not touched at any intermediate foreign port in the course of her voyage, and has not on board any dutiable goods, the cargo may be forthwith landed and removed by the owner without entry thereof at the custom house and clearance for home consumption but subject to such general check and control as the Chief Customs authority may from time to time by rules prescribe,

(b) if the vessel has so touched at any such port or has on board any such goods, such vessel shall be subject to all the provisions of Chapter VII of this Act relating to vessels arriving and such goods, and until such goods have been duly discharged all other goods on board shall be subject to the provisions of Chapter IX of this Act relating to goods imported.

163 If any of the goods on board of any coasting vessel be subject to any excise duty, they shall not be unladen without the permission of the proper officer of Excise.

Goods on coasting vessel, if excisable, not to be unladen without permission.

164 Notwithstanding anything hereinbefore contained, the Chief Customs-authority may authorize the Customs collector to grant a general pass, on any conditions which such Authority thinks expedient for the lading and clearance,

Every such master shall, on demand produce his cargo-book for the inspection of any officer of Customs, and such officer shall be at liberty to make any note or remark therein

The Chief Customs authority may in the case of any vessel the master whereof has been directed to keep a cargo-book under this section, dispense with the manifest required under sections 158, 159 and 160

166 Any duly empowered officer of Customs may go on board of any coasting vessel in any port or place in British India, and may at any period of a voyage search any such vessel and examine all goods on board, and all goods then lading or unloading and may demand the production of any document which ought to be on board of any such vessel
